To Whom it may concern,

I am happy to recommend "Ace Safety Academy Ltd" as my preferred health & safety training provider.

I have always found Peter and his team polite, courteous, efficient and above all else professional in the way they have dealt with my training needs.

The quality of service is backed up by the quality of the training premises.

Unlike other training providers, Ace Safety Academy distinguishes itself largely but not exclusively by its customer care and after sales service. There have been a number of occasions I have sought advice from Peter Jackson and regardless of time of day or his own workload, Peter has always freely offered this advice and guidance whenever I have required reassurance that my decisions have been the correct one. In addition Peter will also offer other avenues that I may not have considered.

It is so often the case in this day and age that cost of product is given priority.

However, when it comes to value, other training providers seem to miss the point; It is my belief that Peter and his team have recognised this and from a personal point of view I will always call Peter and his team first for my training needs.

Steve Murphy BA Hons, Tech IOSH.
